Ex-Minister Stevens Points Out the Danger

That Threatened Suffrage Favorable to Us.

The State Department Satisfied That Lillu kalani Rules-Minister Thurston Will Not Leave the Country-Senator Cullom of Illinois.

By Telegraph to The Times, WEST SOMERVILLE (Mass.,) Nov. 22.-(By the Associated Press.) Hon. J. L. Stevens, ex-Minister to Hawaii, lectured on "Hawaii and Hawaiian Affairs" here tonight. The lecturer refrained from making any direct alusion to recent developments in regard to the Hawaiian question.

Before beginning his address, he re marked that during thirteen years' service as a United States minister, under five Presidents, he had invariably refused to recognize political parties in his own country; that on all questions involving his action, he had known the United States as a unit; believing that in our foreign relations our policy should be national and continuous always with a united front to foreign rivals. He firmly refused to consider the Hawaiian question a partisan question in any sense.

Continuing, he said: "Our interest in Hawaii appertains to the question of America's future commercial power in the Pacific, and involves the issue of responsible government under American flag in harmony with the pledged American faith, the best American antecedents and the plain logic of American history and American op-

"At the date of her downfall, the misguided and unworthy Liliuokalani was without the sympathy and aid of the best untive Hawaiians, and of all respectable and responsible white resi-dents of the islands. Not a hand was lifted in defense of the semi-barbarian throne when it fell, conclusively dis-proving the assertion of the agent of the fallen Queen, who was sent to Washington to secure as large a sum of noney as possible for conveying to our the Hawalian throne, and to the crown lands to which she never had any other claim than to an income as long as she reigned. Her agent though he might nelp his case by the utterly base statement that the United States Minister and naval commander had deprived Liliuokalani of her throne, and Claus Spreckels, who wants the weak Hawaiian monarchy for his tool, sees fit to repeat the absurd story. "In presenting themselves for admission into the American Union, the islands come under more American aspects than our previously-annexed States or Territories. Why should they not be permitted to come under the flag deeply loved in those islands? I hear the whisper in the air: 'Let the islands vote on the question.' Immediately after the organization of January last, the British Minister at Honolulu urged the plan on the provisional government. The scheme was subseuently brought forward by the Queen's attorney. The lottery and opium rings favor the plan. While the ultra-Tory English and Canadian Pacific Railroad have purposes in view other than those of the fallen Queen and lottery and opium rings, they are agreed as to the method to defeat annexation. Claus Spreckels makes a part of the alliance to kill annexation by a plebiscitum. This is an alliance as powerful as it is disreputable.

"A plebiscitum is not admissible by honest Americans, for the following reasons: It would surely result in raising an enormous corruption fund by the allied parties. The Canadian Pacific Railroad in the past used bribes to accomplish its designs, and wants to have a foot and hand firmly in Hawsii. Claus Spreckels holds money to be the chief power in politics, and would pay out enormously to keep the sugar-planters of the islands under his grinding monopoly, to restore his prestige, lost by the fall of the monarchy, and to carry out his scheme to make the Islands an outside field, mainly for cheap Asiatic labor and raw sugar production. He would carry out his threat, and load his steamers, and outvote provisional government by extensive colonization.

"The powerful Pacific opium ring wish to make sure of a depot in Hawall, which they could not do with the population.

"America cannot get rid of her future responsibilities if she would, and all attempts to do so will be at the cost attempts to do so will be at the cost of future generations. I cherish the faith that the American people, statesmen and government, thoughtful of America's great future and great responsibilities, will settle the Hawaiian question wisely and well, and will take care that the flag of the United States floats unmolested over the Hawaiian [Continued on second page.]

Islands, and that thenceforth it shall be moral and political treason to re-move it or strike it down." THE QUEEN SITS.

Lilluokalani Again Holds Forth in th Throneroom.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press. A morning paper pub-lishes a story, signed "H. W. Walker," purporting to give some of the secret advices received by Secretary Gresham from Minister Willis. It is asserted that Willis notified the State Depart that Willis notified the State Department that he had fixed upon Tuesday, of this week, as the date for the restoration of Lilluokalani.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—A local paper this afternoon publishes a Washington dispatch saying it is confidently asserted at the State Department that the Queen was retored to the Hawalian throne vesterday. Secretary Gresham throne yesterday. Secretary Gresham and his colleagues make the assertion in a matter-of-fact way, rather staggering to the anti-administration men. According to a high official, the administration has not the least doubt that the Queen has been restored. Mr. Willis's report did not leave the slight-est doubt of restoration on the appointed day.

WOULD APPEAL TO CONGRESS. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The officers of the State Department fully believe that Queen Liliuokalani has been re-stored to the Hawaiian throne. While not fixing the precise time of the rein-statement it is believed force was nec-essary. It seems, however, that, while actual force may not have been authorized, there was to be such a show as to make the provisional government be-lieve the United States would use all power at its command to bring about restoration. The statement is made that if Dole refused to accede to the demands of Willis, he would be thrust aside and the Queen restored, even if the administration had to go to Congress for authority. At the same time, it is claimed there would be no necessity for any such action as information from the islands is to the effect that everything is working precisely as expected.

One reason for the belief in some quarters that restoration had taken place yesterday is the assertion that, unless restoration took place before the content of the steamer from the arrival of the first steamer from United States since the attitude of the administration was made public, it would not be made at all, because the sentiment of the United States and the eport of Minister Thurston to the proisional government would have a tendency to sustain them and cause then to resist Minister Willis's efforts a

This phase of the case was suggested to the State Department today, and the reply was received that it made no dif-ference, restoration would go on just the same. It is claimed that as soon as it is known that the United States would not sustain the provisional gov-ernment, but was determined to undo what had been done by the revolution ists, the public would immediately com-pel the restoration of the Queen, and the provisional government would fall the provisional government would fair tage of the amnesty which Minister Willis would insist the Queen should grant upon being restored to power.

The Alameda is expected to arrive tomorrow morning. At the department, there is not much expectation of any important news being received by her, although such a thing is barely possible.

THE PACIFIC COAST PROTESTS.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon Finds the Senti ment is Against the Queen. WASHINGTON. Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.) Senator Mitchell of Oregon, who arrived yesterday from San Francisco, when asked by the As-sociated Press reporter today to ex-press an opinion concerning the atti-tude of the people of the Pacific Coast toward the Hawaiian question, said: "I have talked with a great many cople of San Francisco and other points on the Pacific Coast, and can say that the general sentiment on the part of the country is very decisive and emphatic in opposition to what the people there seem to understand to be the policy of the administration, and their understanding, when I left there, was that this polley looked to the overthrow of the existing government and the re-establishment of the Queen." He declined to speak in regard to the suggestion of some San Francisco papers that Cleveland be impeached on the ground that, in such an event, the Senate would be the court to try him, and it would be unseemly to speak in advance of action. The Senator did not, however, hesitate at saying he be-lieved the sentiment of the Pacific Coast was that the present government of the Sandwich Islands ought to be let alone by the United States. "It is," said he. "to say the least, a government in fact which has been recognized not alone by our govern ment, but nearly every civilized government of the earth, certainly by every government having a representative in Hawaii. Willis has been accredited to this government by the President. If, then, we are correct in the impression which we are justified in entertaining; that Willis is instructed to use his influence and the influence of this government, either diplomatic-ally through peaceful instrumentalities alone, or by means of a naval demon-stration on the part of the United States, to overthrow the government to which he is accredited. If, I say, this view of the case is correct, it presents an anomaly in diplomacy

"It presents, I think, I am safe in saying, a case heretofore unknown in the annals of international courtesies. wall, which they could not do with the United States authority established in the islands. By this combined power, operations would be surely carried on in the name of popular suffrage, which might overcome seven-eighths of the property-holders and permanent residents, and all of the really responsible men in the islands. It is, therefore, obvious that the plebiscitum scheme is the revised and most sure method of striking down American civilization and American interests in the islands and of flooding them with an Aslatic population.

"America cannot get rid of her future the annals of international courtesies. There would be as much consistency the most representations to our Minister to France to investigate the means by which the present form of government to overthrow of the present administration installed and to attempt to overthrow it and restore the Bourbons or the Bonapartists to power, as there is in our effort to rethrone Queen Lilliuokalani. Really it is ridiculous, and would be laughable if it were not a matter of great importance. Even if the way were clear and unobstructed, it seems to me that our government might be engaged in BARCELONA, Nov. 22.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) Police this morning unearthed the headquarters of Spanish anarchy in this city from which the movement of Anarchists in all parts of the country are directed. They arrested Miguel Nacher, president of the Spanish Anarchists, and two women who acted as messengers carrying orders to other points to others waiting outside the city. The police also obtained a large quantity of materials and chemicals used in the manufacture of bombs, besides a quantity of bombs loaded and unloaded, a large number of pistols, and a mass of anarchistic literature. Be-sides these, they secured incriminat-ing documents which will probably lead to arrests in Spain and France and

A PROTEST.

The North American Commercial Compan Surprised by a Tax. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(By the Asscribed Press.) Some time ago the Treasury Department made a demand upon the North American Commercial Company for $289,000, being the abate-ment of taxes, etc., authorized by Sec-retary Foster because the company was not allowed, owing to operation of the modus vivendi, to take its stipulated quota of saals on the islands during the years 1890, 1891 and 1892. This demand took the company by surprise, as it did not expect that an arrangement made by Secretary Foster would be changed by the present administration. A reply has been made in the form of a long brief, protesting against being compelled to pay the money demanded. The Treasury Department has referred the brief to the Attorney-General, who has the matter under consideration.

By Telegranh to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22 .- (By the Associated Press.) William T. Cole-man, prominent in business and political circles, died at his residence in this city this morning, at 4 o'clock, aged 69 years. He had been ailing for some time, but his indisposition only assumed a serious nature two days

William Tell Coleman was born in Harrison county, Ky., on February 29, 1824. His father, N. B. Coleman, was a prominent lawyer and a politician of Kentucky. He entered the St. Louis University, where he took, in two years, the regular four-years' course, and graduated with the degree of Bach-elor of Science. After leaving college he spent a winter in the South, and

Coleman also engaged in merchandise transactions. He bought a stock of goods and had it hauled to Placerville. In this he was successful. During the temporary depression of trade, he tried mining. Among other occupations at the mines he took up law practice. In January, 1850, he came to San Francisco, and opened a store on Sansome street, near Jackson, doing a general merchandise business. In 1852, he opened up an agency in New York, and, in 1856, started a line of ships between that port and San Francisco. He entered, in 1860, into Coleman also engaged in merchanof ships between that port and San Francisco. He entered, in 1860, into partnership with E. M. Robinson, the firm being known as W. T. Mr. Coleman became distinguished in the early history of this city as the head of the Vigilance Committee. In 1856 Mr. Coleman was chosen leader of the second Vigilance Committee. There were 1500 hames enrolled on the first day. Mr. Coleman had supreme command, and evinced rare powers of leadership. He was firm and fearless, yet just and fair in the discharge of his weighty obligations to the comminity. The hanging of Casey by the vigilantes, after he had received a fair trial, and the subsequent work of the trial, and the subsequent work of the organization which rid San Francisco of its criminal elements are matters of familiar history.

After three months of active service the committee made a great street pa-rade and finally adjourned. Mr. Cole-man was called to the leadership of the man was called to the leadership of the Committee of Public Safety, which organized during the labor troubles of 1877-78 to prevent riots and destruction of property. The Midwinter Fair Grounds Supplied With Water-Other Attractions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.) A site was selected yesterday by the Italian Auxiliary Committee for the Italian building at the Midwinter Fair. It will be a handsome structure classic after the Italian Re-naissance style, and will be an important addition to the fair.

Spokane, Wash., has sent a delegation to this city in regard to a separate movement at that place. The plans contemplate the erection of a miners' cabin. The interior is to be devoted to agricultural and mining exhibits. Washington feels in regard to the fair, that it is a Pacific Coast Fair, and that the benefits derived from it will go far to aid their State in its future development.

to aid their State in its future development.

The progress of arrangements for the protection of the buildings against fire has been made to such a point that water is now in hydrants that have been located all over the grounds. Eighty-five hundred feet of space has been assigned to miners for their exhibit. Circulars have been sent out urging different county committees to limit space demands as much as consistent with proper display of their resources, as applications have already exceeded the amount of space donated. The big mineral arch, which formed a sfriking exhibit at the World's Fair, will be erected in Sunset: City as an additional feature of the mining display. Mono county has asked for 200 square feet of space, and Placer county for 500 feet, and in all counties money has been liberally appropriated by the supervisors for proper representation at the fair. Different counties are also contributing trees and plants to beautify the grounds, carloads of them being now on the way to San Francisco.

SHOT HIS SISTER'S BETRAYER.

H. M. Eaton, a Telegraph Operator, Killed by Charles Dodge. DAVISVILLE, Nov. 22.—(By the Asclated Press.) A mysterious mur-sociated Press.) A mysterious murder occurred here last night. H. M. Eaton, the night telegraph operator, was shot and killed on the platform of the depot. After receiving the fatal wound, Eaton crawled some distance. He was discovered in a dying condition. He was unable to speak.

At 9 o'clock, this morning, Charles Dodge, a resident of Davisville, walked into the sheriff's office here and gave himself up, saying he had got into trouble and wanted to surrender himself. He did not admit the shooting, but said it was a painful matter about which he did not wish to talk, and in which his sister was implicated. He also said that he bad been brooding over the matter for several weeks. The sister is a student in the tele, the insurance about half.

graph office in which Eaton was an operator.

In an interview with Chris Olsen, a partner of Dodge, the following facts were elicited: Some minutes before 10 o'clock, last evening, Dodge requested Olsen to go with him to the depot as he wished to see Eaton in regard to the seduction of his sister. Dodge made no threats and showed no great agitation, and together the two went to Eaton's office. This was at 10 o'clock, or a few moments later. Dodge knocked on the door which was opened by Eaton, but, on discovering who his visitor was, the latter threw himself upon Dodge, forcing him to the floor. The struggle lasted a few moments, Dodge finally getting his opponent under. The two then separated. As Eaton raised to his feet, Dodge fired. Both Dodge and Olsen then left while Eaton staggered across the street for assistance and died at the door of the Lillard House.

Mrs. Lillard, from her chamber overhead, heard the rattling of the office or saloon-door, and afterwards the fall but, as the sounds were not unusual, paid no attention. It was not until some minutes later that Eaton was discovered, but he was then about dead and never spoke. Olsen is under arrest.

At present, public sympathy is strong in favor of Dodge, whose sister is a bright, intelligent young lady and a general favorite with those who know her. Dodge in his confession differs but little from the foregoing statement made by Olson. It may be added that Miss Dodge is at present lying at death's door as the result of Eaton's crime which, if rumor may be credited, carries with it consequences graver than generally occur in cases of seduction.

The six remaining jurors of the regular venire to try Evans were of the regular venire to try Evans were examined today without resulting in any addition to the jorors obtained on Tuesday. The regular venire being exhausted, the court ordered a special summons. The defense objected to the Sheriff and his deputies on the grounds of prejudice. The Sheriff was put on the stand and testified he believed Evans was guilty of murder, but could and would be as fair and impartial in summoning a special venire as if he never heard of Chris Evans or Young's cabin.

The defense still insisted, and Coroner Stephens was then examined. Stephens made about the same statement. City Marshal Morgan and two deputies were next examined, and finally T. C. White was chosen elisor to select and subpoena a special venire of seventy-five to report next Monday at 10 o'clock. The defense finally found fault with White, and consented that Sheriff Scott should act, but the judge refused to change his order. examined today without resulting in

It is claimed his letter is a breach of diplomacy and amply sufficient to warrant this government in immediately severing all relations with the Hawaiian Minister. Such action be taken but for the reason the American people might not think it fair play: that the right of any man to talk and give his side of the controversy is always conceded, and that to force Thurston to leave this country would be considered by the people disposition not to allow the other sid a hearing.

Thurston this morning said he had not received his passports from the United States government, and had no United states government, and had no reason to expect them. There was no diplomatic impropriety, he said, in a foreign minister making a personal statement in his own defense when he is personally assailed, and he considered that he and the members of the provisional government as individuals had been personally assailed and their veracity impugned.

A Visit to Oregon Scenery Now Offered to the Public.

Quite a number of the people of Los Angeles have visited the beautiful, artistic and nature's collection of paintings that have been on exhibition in our city for three or four weeks—a collection of oil paintings artistically painted on canvas by the accomplished lady artist, Mrs. J. H. Barchus of Portland, Or. So life like, so natural and so real are the touches given to these scenes of Oregon's natural grandeur, that the looker on is at once captivated at the touch of the artist, at the wonderful portraiture of nature itself, and is carried into the realistic beauties of Oregon and the great Northwest. Mrs. Barchus has certainly added renewed laurels to her already established reputation as a lady of remarkable genuis, and it is to be deeply regretted that she has consented to allow her collection to remain on exhibition only a week longer. Mrs. Barchus is a member of the National Academy, and in a few short years has justly earned a reputation and standing in the world of artists, second to none. Our citizens, and especially those who desire to look upon something that is a beauty as well as a joy forever, should avail themselves of the opportunity, and call at the Art Emportum, No. 107 North Main street, and enjoy a feast that appears to the finest sensibilities of nature. A Rabid Eastern "Organ."

A remarkable example of the wilful gnorance of some Eastern people the currency question is furnished by an extraordinary article which appears in the Illustrated American (New York) of November 18, entitled, "The Nation's Rogues' Gallery," with the following sub-head: "Portraits of the Conscience less Scamps Against Whom the President Waged the Struggle for the Dominance of the Popular Will." Among the thirty-four portraits which given in this so-called "Rogues' Gallery," Stephen M. White has the honor to appear. We use the word honor advisedly, for when a journal published vile and slanderous attack upor men who have battled for what they and their constituents believe to be right-however mistaken they may pos sibly have been—it is certainly an honor to be included among the number. The ing from the slanderous character of its attack upon members of Congress whose character is above suspicion, but deals out to President Cleveland, who is pictured as something more than huan and scarcely less than divine. The character of this article may be judged by the following extracts:

"The event has quite justified words written in this magazine at the time when the country was alarmed over reports of the President's ill health. We said then: "The country cannot afford to lose the services of this peer of Washington and Lincoln in such critical times as these. He is the one man of the generation fitted to cope with the enemies of the republic, both within and without his own party. Beset as he has been by problems and responsibilities unprecedented in the records of the nation, harassed by the unconscionable abuse of personal malice, worried by dissensions caused by an infamous element in the Democratic organization, it is little wonder that the herculean constitution has yielded to the strain and shows signs of breaking. May the breezes that sweep by his home that looks out upon the sea restore to him strength and vigor. The country needs him. He is the man fashioned by Providence for the hour and occasion."

They belong to the world of the brothel, the fare den, the dingy resorts of political highbinders. In the United States Senate they are out of place. Some of the men whose counterfeit presentments are shown herewith may object to the unqualified classification that ranks them with those whose misdeeds leave no doubt the Flower Carnival of Santa Barbara. THE FRUIT-GROWERS

Second Day of the State Convention.

The Morning Session Devoted to General Discussion.

Several Interesting Papers Read During the Day.

The Perkins Process for Preserving Fruit Considered-Report of the Committee on Transportation-A Pleasant Excursion.

There was an increased attendance at the State Fruit-growers' Convention yesterday morning, and the body of the operahouse was comfortably filled when the chairman took his seat and rapped or order. The session was an inter-sting one, being devoted more to the discussion of various subjects of gen eral interest to fruit-growers and hor mal papers.

The morning session was called to or der shortly before 10 o'clock by President Cooper.

As soon as quiet was secured the president spoke of the death of Hon Jeremiah M. Rusk, ex-Secretary of Agriculture, and suggested that a resolu-tion of condolence be adopted, and als that the resolution be telegraphed to the family of the deceased.

The secretary then read the following esolution:
"Whereas, the sad news of the death of the late Secretary of Agriculture, J. M. Rusk, has come to us, and whereas, Secretary Rusk proved his friendship to the fruit interests of California, and assist us in many ways; therefore, be it "Resolved, that we, the fruit-growers of California, in convention assembled at Los Angeles, this, the 22d day of November, 1893, tender to the bereaved

November, 1893, tender to the bereaved family of our late and lamented Sec-retary, our sympathy and condolence in their great bereavement."

The resolutions were adopted unanmously

George A. Raymond of Kern county read an essay on 'The Curing of the White Adriatic Fig.' The proper cur-ing of this fig, he said, began with the White Adriatic Fig." The proper curing of this fig, he said, began with the picking. No one with short, blunt fingers should attempt to pick these figs. They should be picked carefully and deposited in shallow vessels. Those which had dropped from the tree ought not to be used. His experience was that a sound fig would not drop, but would ripen on the tree. The morning was a good time to pick them, as the afternoon would be required for the sulphuring process. In short, the whole of the treatment should be attended to with the greatest care. After the figs had been drying for two or three days, which process would follow that of sulphuring, the fruit should be turned carefully. The next day they could be rolled a little more vigorously, and thereafter they would stand rougher handling. In another day or two they should be well cured, but should not be permitted to become too dry as they would thus become leathery and could not be made tender again. In every handling there should be a process of sorting and rejection. It would take a fine discrimination, however, to discrimination howe tinguish between the good and bad ones. The fruit should then be kept in a sweat-box for a few days, after which it should be dipped in boiling, which it should be dipped in boiling, salt water by means of wire baskets. From this time on it should be covered with a light, thin cloth, so as to keep off dust and insects. If dipped in the forenoon it would be in condition to pack the next morning. As to the style of packing, any pretty, original design would be likely to aid in the sale of the fruit.

design would be likely to aid in the sale of the fruit.

After reading the paper, Mr. Raymond, in response to questions, said that he had found young lady help to be very satisfactory in curing the figs.

The ladies were conscientious and be very satisfactory in curing the figs. The ladies were conscientious, and could be depended upon to do faithful work. (Laughter.) As for sulphuring the figs, the only advantage, as far as he knew, was that the skins of the cured figs which had been sulphured would not be as thick. Too much sulphuring would, of course, be injurious as the sulphur would unite with the sugar of the fruit and by such union would form a disagreeable compound. He invited the figures years.

A delegate on the floor asked of Mr. Lelong if it was true the A delegate on the floor asked of Mr. Lelong if it was true that he had discouraged the growing of olives.

Mr. Lelong replied that he had never written any article whatever against the growing of olives. He had, however, made a statement to a gentleman in San Francisco, that he believed olives for pickling should be irrigated six or seven times and should be picked instead of shaken from the tree. For this purpose he thought the Mission variety of olives was the best. Mr. Lelong read an article from the California Fruit-grower, in which article was quoted some statements claimed to have been made in the Los Angeles Times, to the effect that Mr. Lelong had, in some degree, discouraged the industry. The Fruit-grower article went on to say that such statement by The Times was incorrect. Mr. Lelong said Times was incorrect. Mr. Lelong said he had at different times expressed himself as in favor he had at different times expressed himself as in favor of growing clives for pickling on irrigated land, and under the best of care, rather than on the more barren lands.

Mr. Meslin of San Francisco said he wished to speak briefly as to the position of the fruit-growers of the State with reference to the tariff question. The Democrats and Republicans should ome together on some common ground.

Another delegate arose and said the onvention should get down to busiess. Its actions were like schoolboy olay. Two or three gentlemen who had been called upon to read papers and not put in an appearance and had not even forwarded their apolo-gies for not appearing. President Cooper suggested that per-haps the absentees were necessarily away because of their attendance at a meeting of the County Board of Hor-ticulture.

Many of the most prominent fruit-growers of the State were of the company, and the occasion afforded opportunities for private exchange of ideas not afforded even by the convention itself. He said the railroad company had a much greater dead weight to draw in the case of a refrigerator car than in the case of an ordinary freight car. The former car of itself weighed very much more and beside this there was the ice to be carried. There were the large sums it was necessary to pay for ice. If fruit could be carried while preserved by his process then the cost would be much less, and even though the railroad companies were to receive a road companies were to receivingher price for freight the same receive be transported for less. If the fruit could be placed in the Eastern market for a small cost then there would be a sale for all the fruit that could be raised here.

THE BUG CONTROVERSY.

Some Spicy Correspondence and Inside Facts Made Public. The San Francisco Examiner of Tues-day prints the following as a special dispatch from Sacramento: The State Board of Horticulture and the fruit-growers of Southern California are at war. The trouble, which has grown to be a serious matter to the fruit interests, is all about a lot of bugs. Gov. Markham has been endeavoring to pour oil on the troubled waters, and with what success will develop at the meeting of the Fruit-growers' State Convention, which will convene at Los Angeles tomorrow, the 21st inst, continuing four days. A very hot time between the two factions is promised, and if there is not a row it will be surprising. The United States Department of Ariculture has been dragged into the trouble to the injury of the State, since Secretary of Agriculture Morton has withdrawn the two entomologists who have been stationed in California, Prof. D. W. Coquillett at Los Angeles, and Prof. Koebele at Alameda. The State Board of Horticulture and

In some of the ofange-producing sections in the Southern part of the State a great many of the trees are afflicted with the black and red scale, which pests, in time, injure the orange orchards, entailing great loss.

When the white scale had hold of the ofange orchards a few years ago the Legislature appropriated $10,000 to meet the expenses of an expert to go to Australia to find a parasite which would remove the pest. The Department of Agriculture in Washington was applied to for an expert, and the services of Albert Koebele were secured. On receipt of the Australian importation, it is said that Ellwood Cooper, president of the State Board of Morticulture, and Mr. Koebele urged the abandonment of all spraying and fumigating for the protection of trees, so that the imported ladybirds might multiply.

The fruit-growers, it appears, were opposed to this advice, and the suggestions of the State board were not respected. In September of last year John Scott, Horticultural Commissioner residing in Los Angeles, wired Entomol-ogist Riley as follows:

ogist Riley as follows:

"Consignments of parasites from Australia sent by Mr. Koebele not satisfactory in breeding or feeding on red and black scales. Many growers, also horticultural commissioners of six Southern counties, have doubts of their efficacy. State board say they will breed in sufficient numbers in four or five years. In the meantime do you advise suspension of spraying and fumigation? Have you information of reliable character other than Koebele's that new ladybirds will prove as effective on red and black scale as Vedaila on white?

To this Prof. Riley sent the subjoined reply:

To answer your telegram specifically. I have no idea, and never had that anything from Australia will prove as effectual on red and black scale as Vedalia on white, because it is not proved that red scale is Indigenous in Australia, while black scale is known not to be."

Subsequently an article appeared holding the State Board of Horticulture up to ridicule. Prof. Riley was accused

These implications angered Cooper-and Lelong. The controversy with the Department of Agriculture ensued. The merits and demerits of the parasites were discussed, the entire press of Southern California taking part. The members of the Board of Horticulture were severely criticised by the Southern press.

The conduct of the State Board of Hortfulture so annoyed a large number of the fruit-growers that a petition making charges against the board was sent to the Governor about six weeks ago. The petition expresses an opinion that the members of the State Board of Hortfulture do not know their business and are not entitled to credit for any success that has ensued in fighting the orange pests.

One paragraph is as followed:

The petitions declare that the orange-growers of the Southern part of the State have been poycotted, and demand an investigation.

The Governor summoned the members of the board before him to answer the charges and complaints. They are

After they left the Governor the board adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, numerous petitions and complaints containing charges against the action of the State Board of Horticulture, presented to the Hon. H. H. Markham, Governor, by certain fruit-growers and others; and whereas, the members of the State board were invited by His Excellency to meet in 'Resolved, that after a careful review of said papers, the charges not being substantiated by any proof, and our defense accomplished by facts disproving the same, we deem it unnecessary after the explanation given to present any further defense. We acknowledge the wisdom in the advice given by His Excellency, and with the hope that harmony may be established among the fruit-growers throughout the State, we will let the whole matter concerning this unpleasant controversy rest.

That the fruit-growers do not propose to let the matter rest to the satisfaction of the State board, the following letter will show:

"LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6, 1893.
"The Hon. H. H. Markham, Governor—Dear Sir: Your letter of October 31, in reference to the State Board of Horticulture, has been received. First, let me assure you that in expressing my thanks for your prompt interest, I feel I but re-echo the feelings of your constituents in this portion of the State. The wish has been expressed here time and again that a joint meeting of the committee that waited upon you in Los Angeles might have been called to meet with you and the members of the State Board of Horticulture. However, the matter can now rest until the meeting of the fruit-growers in this city.

"There is one fact in connection with the wish for 'harmony' that the State board seems to desire so anxiously, and that is: At the State convention, held in San Jose in November, 1892, the board was severely scored by the fruit-growers present at that meeting, and the State Board of Horticulture, in executive session, promised that no further cause for friction or irritation between it and the people of the State it is assumed to serve, should exist. How well this covenant has been kept you yourself know by the facts and doings of the board that have happened since that time. Not only has South-error California been 'boycotted' to authorities at Washington ibbeld and since that time. Not only ern California been beyon thorities at Washington, I the fruit-growers of this thorities at Washington, libeled, and the fruit-growers of this section deceived as to its importation of predaceous insects, but the board, and particularly its secretary and president, have been instrumental in losing to the great industry of horticulture valuable aid from Washington, and presumed to seek the discharge of people in the National Department of Agriculture at Washington. Under the circumstances you can readily see why the promises of 'harmony' that the commissioners seem to want so badly are taken with the usual grain of allowance.

How are they to make reparation for the mischief already done? The prompt dismissal of Mr. Lelong as sec-retary of the board would do much to retary of the board would do much to restore public confidence. You will recollect that particular stress was laid upon this fact by the committee waiting upon you while in this city. The fruit-growers are not disposed to be arbitrary in this matter, but in the light of all the evidence, you must pardon the strong feeling existing for a change of administration. The delicacy of your position in the premises and your interest in our behalf, and in the cause of a purification of the public service are greatly appreciated. Nevertheless, let me say it candidly and without malice, the people have lost faith in the present personnel of the State Board of Horticulture. Very truly yours, "JOHN SCOTT, "Horticultural Commissioner Los An-

NOT APPROVED BY THE COUNCIL.

The resignation of Chief Curran, and the election of Moriarty were the principal topics of conversation about the City Hall during the afternoon. While the resignation of Curran has been expected for some weeks, its presentation yesterday was in the nature of a surprise to at least two members of the commission, as it was known that he had been sick for several days, and had gone to San Diego to recuperate. Mayor Rowan had stated, it is true, several days ago that Curran would be given an opportunity to resign, but he did not give the date when it was to go into effect until Tuesday night. In fact, Curran was the most surprised man in the city when he found his resignation had been kindly prepared for him during his absence, and he was requested to affix his signature on his return from San Diego. He was somewhat annoyed over the manner in which the matter had been sprung on him, as he says the Mayor had promised to give his resignation.

In regard to the election of Moriarty, there was but one opinion among the councilmen, irrespective of party, and that was that a mistake had been made which would have to he conscience.

In regard to the election of Moriarty, there was but one opinion among the councilmen, irrespective of party, and that was that a mistake had been made which would have to be corrected at the earliest possible opportunity. It was urged that Moriarty, being a cripple, could not fill the position, which required an active, vigorous man, one who could take charge at a fire and lead the men. The fact that Moriarty had received his injury while assistant chief was no argument that he should lead the men. The fact that Moriarty had received his injury while assistant chief was no argument that he should be given a place which he was now physically unable to fill, as the property interests at stake were too great to be jeopardized. There was nothing personal urged against Moriarty, but it was agreed on all hands that the appointment could not stand. As one man remarked: "If Moriarty, when he met with his unfortunate accident, had accepted the situation, and been satisfied to hold the position he occupied when he was hurt, he would have been perpetuated in office irrespective of politics, for no administration would have removed him. Instead of doing this, however, he took an active part in the last election, making a bitter fight against some of the Council who were elected, and becoming in every sense an "offensive partisan." By this course he took his chances, and is entitled to no special consideration on account of his misfortune."

There is no doubt but what the matter will be taken up in the Council at the next meeting, and if the members do not change their minds in the meantime, there may be some kaleidoscopic changes along the line.

"A-large number of those who attended and patronized the Orphan's Fair, which closed last Monday evening in Armory Hall, would be pleased to know what became of the elegant oil painting so generously donated by Mrs. J. These questions should be answered. It is proper that those who were financially interested in the irawing, in the way of holding tickets, should know, and it is but fair that some light should be thrown on the matter, as considerable discontent is being expressed over the subject."

The Fire Commission met yesterday morning. All the members were present when the roil was called, except Commissioner Brodrick, and that gentleman came in soon after.

The chief returned the petition of S. L. Addeman, for permission to move a certain building, and reported that the granting of the same would be inviolation of the fire ordinance. The petition of N. M. Holliway, for permission to build sheds on lots at No. 131 South Broadway, on the west side of the street, was filed, and the request denied, as to grant it would be contrary to the fire ordinance.

A short hearing was given on the petition of N. M. Holliway, for permission to place a boiler and engine at No. 310 South Los Angeles street, and the request was granted.

An application from William Quduck, for a position as callman, was filed.

The requisitions were approved. Chief Engineer Curran presented the following:

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—(To the Editor of The Times.) More than once I have tried to impress upon the public the fact that the present bug controversy is not a personal affair and should not assume one. It directly affects the horticultural interests and the horticultural commissioners of this end of the State. It is asserted that it is purely a matter of C. M. Heintz and H. W. Kruckeberg, but I want to say once more that, as far as any complications of a personal nature are concerned, neither of these men are in the fight except on their own account. The trouble arose out of my criticising the action of the State board casting reflections on Prof. Coquillet, the horticultural commissioners and the fruit-growers of Southern California in its published report, and later of its unjustifiable statements in regard to the success of the orcus chalybeus and other parasites introduced at the same time. The discussion has drifted along till it has involved the officials of the Department of Agriculture and the withdrawal of its agents. This is to be deplored, but to say that either Heintz or his editor are responsible, or that we are guided by their advice or direction, I emphatically deny.

The house seems lone and bare,
And it is quite a grief to me
To find she isn't there.

A merchant who can afford to give a discount to one can afford to give it to all. We give no discount. One price; plain figures. Everybody stands upon an equal footing. Everybody who buys the material for a Cape here is treated exactly alike; we cut, fit and baste the Capes free. Why should a distinction be made? Every dry goods house in this city, with this one exception, singles out a few and gives special discounts. They buy trade and deny their best patrons these special discounts. A lady goes into these stores and claims to be a dressmaker, buys two dollars' worth of goods and gets back twenty cents. Along comes a lady and buys a bill of fifty dollars and no discount is allowed. Where is the justice? Why give one and not the other? We have a rule that if any salesperson cuts a price without authority the amount is charged up to the salesperson. Any discount figured on a check is charged up to the salesperson. This protects everybody. We do business upon the squarest basis known to modern merchandising. Absolute reliability is the key note. We refund money on unsatisfactory purchases; the only exception is on altered garments and goods that have been worn. We treat the public right. Good service. Extra attention to all; large and complete stocks. What more could be expected? Take the Cloak stock; there is reliability. One price; plain figures; no discounts. Large and ample stocks. To-day elegant framed pictures free in any department on a purchase of five dollars. Finer framed pictures on a tendollar purchase. Fur Capes $6, $7, $8, $9, $10. Fur Capes are stylish. A lot of new Jackets; new in style, excellent fitting. Moderate Prices. We tell you candidly, if you expect to buy goods upon a two-priced basis we do not want your trade. No merchant can afford to charge a customer twelve dollars for a tendollar Jacket, and we know this has been done in this city within the past two days. A ten-dollar Cloak is sold for ten dollars here; nine dollars and ninety-five cents would not buy it. Absolute reliability is what we seek. No store in this city can show the crowds; no store in this city is one-half so busy. Since the discount has been done away with it seems that trade began to grow at once. It will continue to grow. Elegant framed pictures free to all who buy five dollars' worth of goods; one picture to each customer; finer pictures free to all who buy $10 worth of goods. Everybody treated alike. No extra inducements held out to any one.

San Diego Wants a Steamer Line to Carry ursions Thither - General, Local and Personal Mention.

It is reported from San Francisco that W. H. Snedaker, passenger agent for the Denver and Rio Grande road for the Denver and Rio Grande road, has been caught at cutting east-bound rates. It is alleged that he sold, through a broker, two New York tickets at $58 each. Spotters worked up the case and clatm to have affidavits to prove their allegations. They were working in behalf of the Passenger Agents' Association in the effort to convict D. W. Hitchcock, of the Union Pacific, of cutting rates, but caught a member of the association. Mr. Sned-aker has not yet been tried by a jury of his peers, and consequently the fact that he cut the rates is not yet estab-lished. If his competitors prove their case against him, it will cost the genial "Sned" $100 for each ticket sold below tariff, which would spoil the profit of several sales. The matter will prove of much interest in Los Angeles, where, as far as the local association and the Union Pacific are concerned, the situation is quite similar, and Mr. Snedaker has an extended circle of acquaintances who hope for his acquital. By agreement with its employees, the Atlantic and Pacific has done away with the practice of promoting trainmen by seniority. The officials of the company will, in all cases, at their discretion, promote the most competent men in the train service. None but experienced trainmen will be employed. All men eligible to promotion are to be examined by an examining board, consisting of superintendent of trans-portation, trainmaster or division su-perintendent, one conductor and one perintendent, one conductor and one brakeman.

The ticket agents of the Western roads have succeeded in overcoming the opposition of the railroad officials to the payment of commissions on World's Fair tickets sold during October at less than half rates. There is a rule of the agreement which provides that no commissions be paid on business at less than one fare for the round trip, and to get around this a proposition has been adopted suspending that rule, and providing that on all World's Fair business of that character during October the usual commissions be paid. It has been discovered that the Union Pacific road has been carrying more pieces of baggage recently than it has received tickets. The number of baggage checks has been greatly in excess of the number of tickets reported by the conductors, and A. T. Palmer, superintendent of terminals for the Union Pacific, has issued a notice in which he says it is apparent that the conductors are not reporting all annual, time or trip passes which are presented. The trouble is supposed to be due to the conductors, and it is not attributed to any irregularities in the baggage department.

HIGH SCHOOL FIGHT.

named Tyler, an account of which was published in The Times yesterday morn-ing. Principal Cates states that the young man then was and had been for published in The Times yesterday morning, Principal Cates states that the young man then was and had been for some time, seated in a chair. The principal noticed that he was seated with the chair tipped back and told him to straighten up. Instead of doing as told, young Tyler left the chair and went to a seat some little distance away. A rule governing the conduct of pupils provided that no one should leave his seat without permission, and accordingly the principal directed the young man to return to the chair where he had been sitting. Instead of doing this he made some remark about the chair hurting his back, and did not make any move toward doing as bidden. The principal spoke a second time, telling him not to make any more remarks but to do as told. The young man hesitated and continued to make some remarks, in which he protested against being compelled to return to his seat. The principal, becoming indignant at him, not so much because he did not return to his seat as because he continued to make remarks when told not to do so, struck him, and young Tyler returned the blow. With this the trouble ended, and there was no interference on the part of other pupils. Principal Cates regards the affair as a clear case of insubordination, in which it was necessary to maintain his authority.

THE SENIOR'S STORY.

A delegation of boys from the senior classes of the High-School called at the Times office yesterday regarding the paragraph printed in Wednesday's issue about a fight at that school. The boys stated, that the pupil concerned in the rumpus was impudent, disrespectful and unruly. He was ordered to take his seat by Principal Cates, and flatly, refused, whereupon the tutor struck the recalcitrant youth with the flat of his hand, or, in other, words, boxed his ears. The boy retaliated by striking back. The principal apologized to young Tyler immediately afterward for losing his temper, and the young man frankly acknowledged that he received no more than he deserved. The statement that Mr. Cates struck the boy from behind is positively denied by the delegation of young men who called at this office, and they are equally positive that the young man who was punished fully deserved it because of his aggressive insubordination and rank disobedience. They say they do not want to fight the thing to a finish in the newspapers, but that in justice to their principal, who they look upon as a gentleman and a scholar, they ask that these statements of facts be made.

BREACH OF DECORUM. THE SENIOR'S STORY.

BREACH OF DECORUM. In connection with the above it has been learned that a little incident occurred soon after the trouble between Principal Cates and young Tyler which will be likely to arouse adverse com-will be likely to arcuse adverse comment.

Elated, apparently, over what had occurred, a number of the youths went out in the yard to where the tail mast bearing the school flag was located and crowded around the place so that the young men nearest the pole could not be distinguished from the others, and lowered the colors to half mast. While people are inclined to be lenient toward the common pranks played in the way of schoolboy fun, they are likely to look with great disfavor on any such disrespect to the American flag, even though such disrespect might not have been intended by the lads who were guilty of it, they should be more thoughtful and reverent, and avoid such breaches of decorum in the future.

CALIFORNIA CRAZE.

Everybody Wants Information About This Climate.

Samples of Letters Received at the Chamber of Commerce Bureau of Information-Some Very Queer Epistles.

The Bureau of Information corre The Bureau of Information spondence takes the palm at present for hard ways of getting around easy matters. Here is a sample of the manner in which a few of the many corre-spondents of this august bureau ad-dress their letters: "Beaureau of in-formation, Los Angeles;" "Bureough of Information:" "The Sekretary of the Bureou of Information;" "Secretary of the Beureau," and "Secatary of the Beurro of Information." A Washington, D. C., correspondent caps the cli-max, however, although not in a very complimentary manner, by addressing "The Bureaw of infirmation." He is intending settler, and desires to intending settler, and desires to m the lowest railroad rates for him-and several others. No doubt he make an excellent citizen, and the reau of Information will gladly fur-him with what he requests, in nish him with what he requests, in spite of his little slip in orthography.

TO THE POINT. A Ft. Scott (Kas.,) man wants all the information possible about California, it is the place in which he means

He must have out-of-door employment, as he would make the change solely for the purpose of getting away from bad climate, and the physical depression of indoor work. He requests the latest pamphlets.

He says that anything relating to the country, its climate (in capitals) and productions, will be appreciated.

PREFERS EASTERNERS.

From Pennsylvania a man writes that he wants to live out of doors this winter, and is looking for a good, dry winter, and is looking for a good, dry climate where he can locate perma-nently. He modestly requests full par-ticulars of Los Angeles, the number of population, cost of living, climate, if there are any fevers prevailing, what church denominations are represented; would like newspapers and printed in-formation: and closes by asking "respectfully" if there are any people here from the East. They ask information with regard to the purchase of land and the terms of acquiring the same in the United States of America. They presume that they should have to take land at some distance from road communications, and are prepared to "rough it a bit," and are not above doing things necessary in order to succeed. They wish to know if they must become citizens of the United States in order to acquire property outright; if so, would it in any way affect the pension pay by the Indian government; and does it seem probable that with a pension of £250 each and a capital of some £3000, the three brother officers could get along fairly well and make something moderate of their own?

TO BOOM THE COUNTRY.

TO BOOM THE COUNTRY. Pennsylvania has a public-school teacher who who has been requested "write a piece" about California to "write a piece" about California and read it at a county institute in December. He at one time spent several months here and remembers to have once seen in the Chamber of Commerce "a number of papers" about California. He goes on to say: "Now would you do me a favor to send me some of that kind of information, as it might be the cause of send me some of that kind of infor-mation, as it might be the cause of some going to California and especially to Southern California, as a good many teachers go to California in the 'sum-ertime.' I have traveled through twenty-five of the States in the Union, and have found none equal to California."

TO HUNT HIS FAMILY. A man in Maine addresses the Bureau of Information, stating that ne has a son in Los Angeles who is the man whose business it is to answer questions is so situated that he could call upon him, the father would be sreatly obliged, and would like to have him ask as follows: First, as to his health and the health of his family; second, what he is doing, how he is prospering, etc. The father anticipates some day coming West himself, and is reading all information he can procure on the subject. He remembers that his son once wrote him that Los Angeles was a good place to live.

These requests range froocean to ocean.

"CRACKED" ON CALIFORNIA.

The last letter in the recent batch is from "Sojourner," who writes that he has come on from St. Lawrence county, New York, to spy out the land, and that people back home think he is "cracked" on Southern California. He says he has lived in New York State thirty years, and that everybody there knows him; that he has always been regarded as a sincere and truthful man and a Christian, but that now his old friends seem to think he has suddenly become untruthful. He claims that his greatest fault is that he loves sunny Southern California, and that love may be blind. He has on hand a broad scheme for bringing out some thirty or forty "tender and delicate" ones from the St. Lawrence country to winter here, and writes on the "keen jump" for immediate information concerning transportation. "CRACKED" ON CALIFORNIA.

Truly, the Bureau of Information must be the greatest of encyclopedias.

He will find it a windy job trading him."

THE ENEMY OF SPAIN.

Some of the Traits of Muley Hassan, the Present Emperor of Morocco. (New York Tribune:) Muley Hassan, the Emperor of Morocco, is 55 years old. His demeanor is grave and majestic, as becomes a man knowing the importance of his double character, as Emperor and Pontiff, and a successor to the Prophet, of whom he is a descend-ant. His dark eyes are large and ex-pressive. His Moorish physiognomy, adorned with a flowing black beard, in which are seen some white hairs, re-veals that in his veins runs the blood of the negro race, united to that of the veals that in his veins runs the blood of the negro race, united to that, of the Arabs. He shows at the same time in his physical traits the evidence of an extraordinary firmness, mixed with a certain shadow of melancholy and lassiacres lying north and east of Chino Creek. Subdivided into ten-acre tracts, which have a gradual decline toward the South and Southwest diving ample natural drainage for successful cultivation.

In 1891 the Beet Sugar Company was organized and the Refinery built and put in operation at Chino, in a central portion in reference to the property. The result obtained from the operation of the Factory for the few years past shows a remarkable degree of adaptability of the soil to the successful cultivation of the Sugar Beet, both in amount of production and in percentage of saccharine matter, and also in the efficient capacity of the manufacturing plant. The factory handled during the present season of 1893, 109) tons o. ocets per day, and have from 600 to 800 tons per day coming in continuously for the entire campaign, covering a period of nearly four months. It is proposed now to increase the capacity of the Factory by the erection of an additional building and machinery to suit the raquirements of increasing production. The returns for the present campaign have been a total yield of over 18.08,000 pounds of sugar, which have been shipped out as crude sugar direct and specific contract between Mr. Gird and the Chino Valley Beet Sugar-Company, a corporation which instituted and operates the Beet Sugar industry, they agreed to purchase from Mr. Gird or his successors all the beets grown on the respect of the respect to come, and at the present date, about November 1st, 1893, deport the commencement of the next season, a fixed price is established that the factory will pay for the beets at maturity next season, a fixed price is established that the factory will pay for the beets at maturity next season, a fixed price is established that the factory will pay for the beets at maturity next season. This insures the planter in the market for his crop, and with the price that is fixed, before he commencement of the next season, a company of the section of the sugar Beet under such auspices.

While speaking particularly in Citrus Fruits and Deciduous Trees.

Orange groves planted on portions of the ranch are coming forward, and olives, figs, apricots, prunes, pomegranates and berries, in fact California fruits of all kinds, seem indigenous to the soil. It is also demonstrated that corn, barley, wheat, and in fact all the cereals and vegetables flourish in this soil and attain a high degree of perfection.

The townsite of Chino, located at a convenient point with reference to all portions of the ranch, is a flourishing California town, with telegraph, telephone and express offices, schools and churches. Means of communication and transportation are ample. The Southern Pacific Railroad runs its main line direct into Chino, and is four miles distant from Pomona and Ontario, on the main overland line, and in addition is the proposed extension which is now assured from Pomona, through Chino to South Riversie and Elsinore.

The following are a few of the advantageous features of the Chino Valley. First, the cultivation of the Sugar Beet, which insures a profit; fifteen tons is an average crop, but twenty tons is not unusual, which is received at the factory at a fixed price of $4.50 per ton, which during this present season of 1885 has a wereaged the grower from $50.000 per acre net, and clean above all expense of working the ground. planting and harvesting the crop and delivering at the factory.

We invite land-seekers generally who are desiring to secure profitable investment. Four passenger trains in and out of Chino every day. We invite correspondence.

Personal Injuries-A Supreme Court Opinion Received for Filing-

tional nature was commenced in the Superior Court yesterday by Jane A. Newton against Mrs. Anna P. Spencer and her husband. A. H. Spencer. Plaintiff alleges in her complaint that the defendant, Anna P. Spencer, at different times from May 1, 1892, until March 1, 1893, wrongfully contrived to infure the plaintiff, and deprive her of the comfort, society, aid and assistance of her husband; did while living with her own husband, wickedly and maliciously have sexual intercourse with Charles D. Newton, then the husband and ways, enticed said Charles D. Newton away from plaintiff and allenated his affections, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $25,000.

doubtless, that Mrs. Newton instituted proceedings for divorce against her husband, a Los Angeles-street liveryman, in June last, upon the grounds of adultery, a decree being granted by Judge McKinley on August 26 last.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment and order denying a new trial in the case appealed by Jaratano judgment and order denying a new trial in the case appealed by Jaradano Nicolosi from the Superior Court of San Bernardino county, for the reasons set forth in an opinion rendered by Commissioner Van Clief, which was received by Deputy Clerk Sesnon yesterday for filing in this city.

From this opinion the following history of the case was gleaned: Nicolosi and Giovanni Lena were jointly accused of the crime of grand larceny, committed by feloniously stealing a trunk, containing a quantity of lady's apparel, belonging to Miss Jennie Fetty. Two weeks after the disappearance of this trunk, it was found by Marshal Dickson and Constable Wilson of Riverside in the possession of defendants in a small board shanty, hidden under a bed. When ordered to open it, Nicolosi said that he had no key to it, adding that it was not his trunk. Upon examining it, however, the officer found the lock broken, and upon the top of its contents, an envelope addressed to Nicolosi's brother, at No. 105 Upper Main street, this city, which defendant admitted having placed there three days earlier. After several other conflicting stories had been told, Nicolosi endeavored to explain the fact of the trunk being in his possession by stating that two weeks before a man whom he did not know had driven up to his shanty and asked permission to leave that and another trunk for a few days, but failed to return for them. On a separate trial Nicolosi was convicted, and sentenced to imprisonment in the State prison, whereupon he appealed al., findings and judgment being ordered for the plaintiff in accordance with the following brief opinion:

This is an action in which plaintiff seeks to obtain a decree requiring defendants to deliver to him a certain deed from defendants to plaintiff for certain lots in the Throop tract near this city, which deed, it is alleged, was executed by defendants to plaintiff, and that thereafter and before it was recorded, defendants obtained possession of the same, and have since refused to deliver it over to the plaintiff. It is also alleged that defendants have been in possession of the land since the time of the delivery of the deed, and that the rental value is $20 per month. For the amount of such rents he asks judgment. The only serious question to be decided in whether or next the date of the editer of the cited of the cit of the delivery of the deed, and that the rental value is $20 per month. For the amount of such rents he asks judgment. The only serious question to be decided is whether or not the deed referred to was actually delivered by defendants to plaintiff. The evidence shows that it was placed by defendants in the hands of one Wright, who was the agent of both parties, and that he subsequently handed it to plaintiff, who, within a short time thereafter, again handed it to the defendant, A. L. Austin. Plaintiff contends that this was an actual unqualified delivery of the deed, while the defendants contend that the deed was only handed to plaintiff for the purpose of inspection, and was not intended to be delivered. And this presents the controversy in the case. It would serve no good purpose to consider the evidence in detail. The witnesses are all evidently intending to testify truthfully according to their recollection and belief, and the decision depends entirely upon the weight of the evidence and its effect upon the mind of the court. Upon the whole, I have come to the conclusion that at the time the deed was passed to plaintiff, the parties intended to make an actual delivery thereof to him. This being the case, the title to the property passed to the plaintiff, and he is entitled to possession of his title deeds. Possession by the defendant of the property was reasonable rental value thereof. Under the evidence, I think the property was reasonable rental value thereof. Under the evidence, I think the property was reasonable worth the sum of $20 per month.

Findings and judgment will therefore be drawn in favor of plaintiff, and that he recover of the defendant the rental value of the premises from the date of the delivery of the deed to the date of the delivery of the deed to the date of the divery of the deed to the date of the delivery of the deed to the date of the delivery of the deed to the date of the delivery of the deed to the date of the delivery of the deed to the date of the delivery of the deed to th

DAMAGES FOR PERSONAL INJURY. The trial of the case of Thomas and Catherine Corman vs. H. C. Witmer, an Catherine Gorman vs. H. C. Witmer, an action to recover $27,500 damages for personal injuries, alleged to have been sustained by reason of defendant's negligence, was commenced before Judge McKinley and a jury, in Department Six yesterday, J. Marion Brooks; Esq., appearing for the plaintiffs, and Mrs. Dooner & Hester, representing the defendent.

Mrs. Dooner & Hester, representing the defendant.

Five witnesses were examined during the day's session on behalf of the plaintiffs, the matter, at the close of their testimony, going over until this morning.

The plaintiffs allege that Witmer is the owner of the building known as Belmont Hall, and that it was leased by him to one Horace A. Brown, who conducts a school there. On October 15, 1892, Mrs. Gorman, a stout and elderly woman, called upon Brown at his request, to see about obtaining employment, and while leaving the building by way of a staircase on the east side, which lead from the second story to the court-yard below, she fell, owing to the rickety condition of the stairs, and sustained such injuries as to permanently cripple and incapaciate her from working.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Do Wrong and Stick to It. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—(To the Editor of The Times.) The Hawaiian question seems fast drifting out to the sea of an endless controversy about questions of fact and the veracity of individuals, while they have very little to do with real merits, and are scarcely worth their stale recital. A few plain propositions, it seems to me, govern the whole case, and take it out of court, as far as the United States government is concerned.

United States government is concerned. They are these:

(1.) The right of revolution is universally conceded. Without it civil liberty and human progress are impossible.

(2.) The means by which a revolution is accomplished, whether by violence or fraud, by coup d'etat, or by the weakness or misfortune of the ousted party, the progress of the course ary government, friendly or adverse to its existence. Such are the fortunes of war, and the rights of the people. (3.) All human governments are sub-ject to these contingencies, and are supposed to be fully prepared to main-tain their authority by superior force of arms if need be. If they are un-able to do this, if they are outnumbered by bribery and misrepresentation, or supposed to be fully prepared to maintain their authority by superior force of arms if need be. If they are unable to do this, if they are outnumbered by bribery and misrepresentation, or are intimidated by a threat of foreign intervention, or if by any other means, fair or foul, they are successfully supplanted by their opponents, they can have no claim upon friendly governments to avenge their wrongs and restore their lost power.

(4.) There has been a successful revolution in the Hawaiian Islands, through the weakness and default of the previously existing authority, and the unwarranted aid and interference of a fereign power. The government of the United States has officially recognized this fact, and the personnel and authority of the provisional government. The United States government through its agents, may have been guilty of unfriendly acts toward the government of the late Queen of the islands; it may have been hasty in recognizing the new authority set up; it may be morally bound to make such reparation as it can for injury to the interest of its allies personally; but it is nevertheless bound by its acts and realm of the Queen, by committing a greater and more positive wrong in overthrowing a government, and is estopped from saying that its action was hasty and unauthorized. Our government cannot atone for any wrongful acts of its agents toward the rights and realm of the Queen, by committing a greater and more positive wrong in overthrowing a government, ther Majesty must regain her lost power without the aid of those means of which she now loudly complains.

Certainly, the government of the United States government are too late in their demands upon the provisional government. Her Majesty must regain her lost power without the aid of those means of which she now loudly complains.

Certainly, the government of the United States government are too late in their demands upon the provisional government. Her Majesty must regain her lost power without the aid of those means of which she now loudly comp rnments with which she has friendly relations, on any pretense whatever; it is war outright.

By her first step in the Hawaiian imbroglio she should be forewarned not to take another of a similar nature.

J. SAYLES BROWN.

Washington, D. C.

(This is remarkable logic. It is a lplea for the United States to stand fast after committing a wrong against a friendly power, which even the writer of the above impliedly acknowledges.; Having declared that the horse was sixteen feet high, and bearing tusks in his mouth, the proposition of Mr. Brown is to "stick to-fit." "Certainly the government of the United States cannet go into the business of revolutionizing existing governments with which she has friendly relations, on any pretense whatever; it is war outright."

says Mr. Brown. But what did the government of the United States do when its agent, Minister Stevens, sent an armed force ashore into the capital of the islands to revolutionize, or directly sid in revolutionizing an existing government with which this government had friendly relations? And, having done that unjustifiable act, how can it be maintained with reason and justice that the United States should not undo its unjustifiable and unprecedented act? Why should we not make the dusky—Queen whole so far as the great government of the United States has had a hand in her undoing? Then let destiny work out Hawaii's future, whatever it may be.—Editor Times.)

Rev. Mr. Thomson's Lecture on Masonr The lecture on Masonry, S. Thomson at Unity Chur

S. Thomson at Unity Church tomorrow evening, for the benefit of the Associated Charities, is not intended for Masons exclusively, but for the general public. It will be an opportunity for all to hear the true principles of Masonry made plain, and also an opportunity to assist this grand move in charity work in our city.

It certainly is not necessary at this time to urge the importance and the need of this organization. The Ladies' Benevolent Society, which has so faithfully responded to every worthy demand for years, is wholly unable to cope with the present situation, as the city and the work have grown entirely past it; and this has necessitated a thorough reorganization of the charity work.

The Associated Charities being now thoroughly organized, it needs only to be put firmly on its feet by the support of the public. Early that morning, it was noticed that a heavy storm was brewing. was proposed to corral the burros be fore breakfast, and then start home-ward. Mr. Winston emphatically favored such a proposition, and started off in search of the animals. Half a mile up one of the canyons he was overtaken by Mr. Brown. The latter proposed to climb a hill and descend into an adoining canyon. It was agreed that as soon as either one found agreed that as soon as either one found the burros, he would "hello" to the other at the top of his voice, Brown proved to be the lucky finder, and he "helloed" all the way back to camp. He arrived there with the animals safely in tow, but Mr. Winston did not appear. Soon after the storm set in. For thirty-six hours it "snowed and blowed." At the first signs of clearing, Brown and Reed started up the canyon in search of their missing companion, but failed to find him. Tuesday morning they determined to return home, feeling confident that Mr. Winston had determined to return by another route.

wednesday morning two Fasacentans, who are thoroughly acquainted with the mountain trails, left to escort Mr. Winston on his march homeward, and this (Thursday) morning, Col. Hartwell, M. H. Weight and one or two others will leave to add strength and gusto to the returning party.

The Valley Hunt's coming Tourna-ment of Roses will prove a magnificent success if enthusiasm and efficiency on ment of Roses will prove a magnificent success if enthusiasm and efficiency on the part of the management counts for anything. The efforts of previous years have made apparent the cardinal faults of such celebrations, and the first effort of those in charge of the coming New Year's day festivities will be to correct the errors of the past. An unusually interesting programme of events is being prepared to take place on Mr. Hurlbut's grounds southeast of town, and no expense. Will be spared to have the best of order maintained throughout, and every event comes off promptly on time.

The list of prizes, which is nearly completed, comprises a number of articles of special as well as of practical value. Among these might be enumerated a handsomely embroidered banner, driving robes and whips, costly spurs, United States flag, set of solid silver forks and spoons, beautiful etchings of famous artists, valuable advertising space in newspapers, blankets, smoking inclement.

When we receive our equivalent for either our money or our labor, we are satisfied, and that is why the "Pageant of Roses," as given at the operahouse, last spring, was satisfactory alike to the patrons and to those having the entertainment in charge. The press extolled, strangers were strongly impressed and carried the fame of our roses and the beauty of our women and children away with them, and Kate Sanborn went home and wrôte of the pageant in her widely-read book, "A Truthful Woman in Southern California," like this: "The dancing was exquisitely graceful, and the evolutions and figures admirably exact. No mistake, nothing amateurish about the whole performance." Miss Sanborn gives the ladies in charge of the pageant courage to announce that a full equivalent will be offered the public at the World's Fair entertainment, Friday night. Now, where the trouble comes in is that Francis holds the license, and refuses to give it up, and if Whitton opens the saloon, which he says he will do in a day or two, the City Marshal will close him up for attempting to run without a license. It seems the city will have quite a lengthy law suit on hand unless the creditors come up and purchase

Two Old People Enter into the Bonds of Wedlock.

Status of the Anaheim Irrigation District a News Notes and Per-

"Two souls with but a single thought; two hearts that beat like sixty," is what Deputy County Clerk Beckett said to the Times correspondent Wednesday, as he pointed to the marriage license just issued to Joseph Carr, aged 72 years, of De Luz, San Diego county, and Julia M. Blinn, aged Sa years, of Santa Ana. And thereby hangs a tale, thought the correspondent, so an investigation was at once begun with a view of securing an item that would make interesting reading. It was soon ascertained that the pros-pective bride, Mrs. Blinn, had only been a resident of Santa Ana a few days: that on Thursday last she was speeding westward on a railway train across the sandy desert from her Denver home, to the land of the afteroon to meet the ideal of her heart-speeding westward on a railway train across the sandy desert from her Denver home, to the land of the afternoon to meet the ideal of her heart—the author of many treasured letters full of words of love and tenderness, and promises of a life of luxury and ease in a comfortable home, nestling at the foot of flower-bedecked hills and on the banks of a clear, cool, spark-ling, mountain brook. Although the train was right on time, it seemed to the prospective bride to be going at a snail's pace. But finally her destination was reached. The south-bound Souhern Pacific train on Friday evening brought in Mrs. Julia M. Blinn, who claimed to hail from far-off Denver. After registering at one of Santa Ana's principal hotels, she made inquiry if a gentleman had not been looking for her, and when informed that no inquiry to that effect had been made, she became more communicative, but was quite guarded in her remarks. The fact was soon developed, however, that she had come, by previous arrangement, all the way from Denver to meet Joseph Carr of De Luz, San Diego county, expecting to marry him if, upon first sight, he filled her fancy. As the days filtted by, the expectant bride became nervous as Joseph, the namesake of the weaver of the coat of many colors did not show up. But everything comes to those who wait, and Joseph stepped off the north-bound Santa Fe train from San Diego Tuesday evening. He stepped into the hotel bus, and on the way up inquired if a friend had already arrived whom he desired to meet. Upon being informed that she was there and was waiting, his heart began to beat as indiscriminately as the average Salvation Army drum. But he calmed himself, and after registering, was conducted to the parlors of the Richelieu Hotel Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Justice George E. Freeman officiating. The contracting parties were Joseph Carr, a native of Ireland, aged 72 years, of De Luz, San Diego county, and Mrs. Julia M. Blinn, a native of New York, aged 58 years, and a resident of Denver. A card was pinned to the door of a little corrugated iron building on East Fourth street, near the old Taylor House, announcing that one of the occupants of the house was a victim of scarlet fever. The unfortunate residents of the building are very poor, and the house itself is very unsightly, the whole of which forms an eyesore that should be removed. The people should receive proper care and the premises should be cleaned up. Located as it is, on East Fourth street, it is surely not a good advertisement for the city among the strangers from the North and East who are beginning to come in so freely.

nail against further alleged impositions upon them by the irrigation district, and they are now moving heaven and earth, so to speak, to make their influence felt in the district. Fifteen of the following petitions are being circulated among the farmers, for signatures, all of which are reported as being liberally signed. The Times correspondent was shown one of the papers and the same contained the signatures of fifty residents whose homes were within the district:

"ANAHEIM, Cal., Nov. 18, 1893.

"To the Board of Directors of the Anaheim Irrigation District—Gentlemen: The undersigned, constituting a majority of the assessment payers within the Anaheim Irrigation District, whose names appear on the last preceeding assessment roll of said district, respectfully ask for the abandonment of further operations by said district, and we request that a special election be ordered as provided by law, upon the question of such abandonment of further operations."

A meeting will be held in Anaheim, next Saturday, at which the subject of abandonment—the prayer of the above petition, will be warmly and, no doubt, enthusiastically discussed. The meeting is a most important one and will surely be largely attended.

The committee in charge has been meeting with greater success than had been ex-pected. The fate of the board of trade when once organized will largely upon the officers chosen first year of its existence. It is especially necessary that the secretary of the board should be an active and en-ergetic man of ability and pleasing address-one who is familiar with Red lands and its environs, and knows its resources and its needs, and knows, also, how to present them to the public especially to business men-through personal interviews and correspondence It can scarcely be expected that wit the city in its present stage of development the board will be able to secure such a man and pay him such as to enable him to devote his time to the work of the board. On the other hand, it is less able to elect to this position a man who has private in-terests to be advanced by the position.

The proposed electric car line on Euclid avenue is meeting with splendid success. The Times representative interviewed William Friend, who is getting subscriptions for the building of the line, and he says that he thinks the road is certain of success. The Euclidavenue property-owners are being asked to subscribe 50 cents per front foot, and they are subscribing very cheerfully and very rapidly. The electric plant is to be located at the head of the avenue, and is to furnish are lights for the city. It is proposed to put twenty-five arc lights on the famous avenue, and the company proposes to furnish these lights for two years free of charge. The City Council will then be asked to order ten more lamps for the rest of the city. No more beautiful sight can be imagined than terviewed William Friend, who is get beautiful sight can be imagined than to see the avenue lighted for a distance to see the avenue lighted for a distance of seven miles with arc lights, and the San Antonio Heights Railroad Company proposes to run the thing right through.

It is also proposed that the company build an electric line to Borroam The

It is also proposed that the company build an electric line to Pomona. The company only asks for a subsidy of 50 cents per front foot, whereas President Baldwin asks for 65 cents. This would seem a more feasible and a more economical thing for Ontario to do, and it would certainly be a great advertisement for the place. The company thinks, with present prospects, that the thinks, with present prospects, that the road will be in running order within the next three months.

ORANGE, LEMON AND OLIVE LAND. And Orange and Lemon Trees on Five and

And Orange and Lemon Trees on Five and Ten Years' Time.

This land is located at Mentone, and Redlands, and includes water piped to each ten-acre tract. Mentone lands grow the finest fruits, of nearly all kinds, grown in the world. Some of this winter's orange crop is aiready sold at $3.50 per box, and some sold last spring at $4 per box from trees planted only four years. Choice pieces can still be bought at $2.50 to $300 per acre. I will furnish the choicest trees in the market and plant the land at $50 per acre. Will only require one-third cash down, balance in five equal annual payments. Have very choice land one mile from center of Redlands, only $150 cash payment down and no farther payment for ten years, at $4\forall per cent, interest. I have the sale of three choice groves at Mentone, four at Crafton and six at Redlands, all in bearing, at prices ranging from $550 to $1000 per acre, according to age and location.

If you want pure water, pure air, good train service on two railroads, good society, cheap ice, electric lights in your house as cheap as tallow candles, go to Mentone, where a case of malaria, rheumatism, asthma or throat trouble is never seen, except in print. For further particulars apply to W. P. McIntosh, general agent, No. 14 South Main street, Los Angeles, Cal.
